

Appendix B

Survey Process, Timelines and Participation Fee

Survey Process

Step 1: On receiving confirmation from ACMA members for participation for the survey, Deloitte India will prepare the detailed plan for data collection based on availability of concerned personnel from the member organization.

Step 2: Deloitte (in collaboration with ACMA) will conduct Data Collection and Job Matching Workshops with the member companies either virtually or physically in Delhi, Mumbai, Pune, Chennai & Bangalore in ACMA office/Deloitte office/one of member companies' office to familiarize companies with the process, scope of survey etc.

Step 3: Deloitte will prepare user friendly questionnaires to collect information from the participating company on their existing HR policies and remuneration trends and share it with the participating companies. To ensure data accuracy and relevance, Deloitte will conduct a discussion with the HR Representative/nominated employee from the participating companies for job matching and data collection.

Step 4: Deloitte will get a sign off from the company on their final data to be used for benchmarking.

Step 5: Deloitte will validate and analyze the data to prepare the Industry Survey Report.

Step 6: The report would be shared with all the participating companies in soft copy.

Step 7: Deloitte will partner with ACMA to conduct sessions to share the report findings.

Data Integrity and Confidentiality

A cornerstone of the ACMA – Deloitte survey is to ensure data integrity and confidentiality. Deloitte will leverage its internal processes to maintain a high level of data confidentiality. Data will be only accessible to the core team working on the assignment. Data will not be shared or presented in its original form and no company wise data will either be presented or can be identified through any reports. Design related measures would be enforced to protect the tracking down of any data to the source.
